Background Originally disclosed via email on and originally documented on
, this idea was sparked during the development of the Lifestyles bonus game for the Panda platform. The bonus for this game is a second screen bonus in which the player is presented with multiple rows of selectable icons. During the play of this game, the player is required to select one icon from each of the rows. The player is then given the opportunity to trade in up to 3 of their selections. The initial round of game play could easily be enhanced to provide the player with the option of allowing the gaming device to select and reveal the first four icons.

Advantages The Bonus Game Quick Pick feature adds a fresh ingredient of bonus game play to the 'select x of y possible items' in that the player can choose to select bonus elements or choose to allow the gaming device to select such elements. Further, this feature builds on player perception that the gaming device has knowledge about and control over the outcome of games. The player may choose to let the machine select the bonus elements thinking that the device will select the elements representing the best possible outcome. And, finally, allowing players to find and maintain a game play rhythm is an important element of game implementation. Players of IGT gaming devices that choose to utilize the Bonus Quick Pick feature may be less likely to find their game play groove interrupted by a bonus game. Also implied here is that game play with this feature can be expedited by the impatient player.

Comments Much like the Keno game play feature that provides the player the option of allowing the gaming device to generate Keno card selections, this invention provides the player an opportunity to allow the gaming device to select bonus elements. As an example of this invention's applicability (in addition to the aforementioned Lifestyles example), the Safe Bet Bonus of My Rich Uncle, a game currently in the final stages of development for the IGame+ platform, could easily be enhanced to incorporate this feature. This on-screen bonus presents the player with up to five safes (one on each reel). The player selects one of the five safes and is awarded a credit amount associated with the safe selected. In this game, the player could activate the Bonus Quick Pick feature and allow the gaming device to select the awarded safe.

balls at once", the concept can be greatly simplified: multiple balls on the playing field. Add also, a block out mode in which a bonus (or otherwise unique action / pay) occurs when all holes have been entered by a ball. Further extend this concept to include all elements on the field being hit / killed. In reference to selectable materials for balls, etc., this can include operator / player-selectable materials. Extension in obvious: reels, symbols, poker cards, etc.)

- The concept of skins applied to a gaming device. The latest rage on the internet is the user option to customize browsers, mpeg players, etc. In extending this concept to a gaming device, what if we allow the player or operator to swap out reel interfaces, symbols, poker cards, all / any screen elements - to customize the look of the game.

Trade Blank

- Quick Pick feature in bonus games: In games where player selection is required provide the player with the option to allow the machine to pick ~~the~~ the required elements. Concept is much like Reno's quick pick feature where the machine generates the player's numbers when the player so chooses the option.

Trade Blank

3D Poker cards to increase screen capability and card clarity for deal many hands, especially in high hand count poker such as Triple Play family of games. One style is "Star Wars" - style. This would allow a fly-over view of a card game allowing for  $x$  poker hands where  $x$  is the number of hands determined by the player or game.

A power meter indicator which can be used to signify a "game ready" time. In pachinko the meter may indicate when a ball is ready to launch.

Re: Australian Filing of Patent Application For Automated Selection of Video Gaming Options
Inventor: Nicole Beaulieu
Our Reference: 29757/P-576

Dear Lena:

As we discussed briefly, there are a number of significant changes in Australian patent law that will take effect shortly, as set forth in the enclosed copy of the e-mail I sent you recently. The more significant of the changes are that the definition of prior art will be expanded to include use, sale or public disclosure anywhere in the world and that it will become possible for the first time to combine references to make an obviousness rejection.

Since the above changes become effective for Australian patent applications and PCT applications designating Australia that are filed after April 1, 2002, the adverse effects of the changes may be avoided by filing an Australian application or a PCT application designating Australia prior to April 1, 2002.

Although a patent application for the above matter has not yet been filed, my status sheet indicates that at least a first draft of an application has been prepared and sent to the inventor(s) for review. Thus, it appears that a patent application could be finalized and filed in Australia (and simultaneously with a U.S. application) before April 1, 2002 (and assuming we received prompt assistance from the inventor(s) if necessary).

Subject: Fwd: Significant changes to AU law from April 1

FYI

-----Original Message-----

Date: 01/08/2002 08:45 pm (Tuesday)

From: Bill Bennett

Subject: Significant changes to AU law from April 1

A couple of significant changes to AU law will shortly take effect. Please bring this to the attention of any of your colleagues who prosecute applications in AU.

1. Prior Art Base

(a) Use, sale, etc anywhere in the world will for the first time form part of the prior art base. This will apply to applications filed after April 1.

(b) Perhaps more importantly, it will become possible for the first time to combine references in the context of an obviousness rejection. Again, this will apply to AU applications filed after April 1.

PRACTICAL ADVICE - it will be desirable to place any AU application (or any PCT application designating AU) on file prior to April 1, as such application will receive the benefit of the current law which excludes foreign use and excludes the combination of references.

2. Benefit of Doubt

At present, the APO is obliged to exercise any benefit of the doubt in favour of the applicant. From April 1, the "balance of probabilities" approach will apply. This change applies to applications which are examined after April 1 (ie. it will apply to applications which are already pending).

PRACTICAL ADVICE - accelerate prosecution of any presently pending AU application with a view to achieving allowance before April 1, if possible.

APPLICABLE RULES AND STATUTES

37 CFR 1.56. DUTY OF DISCLOSURE - INFORMATION MATERIAL TO PATENTABILITY (Applicable Portion)

(a) A patent by its very nature is affected with a public interest. The public interest is best served, and the most effective patent examination occurs when, at the time an application is being examined, the Office is aware of and evaluates the teachings of all information material to patentability. Each individual associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in this section. The duty to disclose information exists with respect to each pending claim until the claim is canceled or withdrawn from consideration, or the application becomes abandoned. Information material to the patentability of a claim that is canceled or withdrawn from consideration need not be submitted if the information is not material to the patentability of any claim remaining under consideration in the application. There is no duty to submit information which is not material to the patentability of any existing claim. The duty to disclose all information known to be material to patentability is deemed to be satisfied if all information known to be material to patentability of any claim issued in a patent was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in the manner prescribed by §§ 1.97(b)-(d) and 1.98. However, no patent will be granted on an application in connection with which fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct. The Office encourages applicants to carefully examine:

- (1) prior art cited in search reports of a foreign patent office in a counterpart application, and
- (2) the closest information over which individuals associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application believe any pending claim patentability defines, to make sure that any material information contained therein is disclosed to the Office.

Information relating to the following factual situations enumerated in 35 USC 102 and 103 may be considered material under 37 CFR 1.56(a).

35 U.S.C. 102. CONDITIONS FOR PATENTABILITY: NOVELTY AND LOSS OF RIGHT TO PATENT

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

- (a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or
- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of the application for patent in the United States, or
- (c) he has abandoned the invention, or
- (d) the invention was first patented or caused to be patented, or was the subject of an inventor's certificate, by the applicant or his legal representatives or assigns in a foreign country prior to the date of the application for patent in this country on an application for patent or inventor's certificate filed more than twelve months before the filing of the application in the United States, or
- (e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraph (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or
- (f) he did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented, or
- (g) before the applicant's invention thereof the invention was made in this country by another who had not abandoned, suppressed, or concealed it. In determining priority of invention there shall be considered not only the respective dates of conception and reduction to practice of the invention, but also the reasonable diligence of one who was first to conceive and last to reduce to practice, from a time prior to conception by the other.

35 U.S.C. 103. CONDITIONS FOR PATENTABILITY; NON-OBVIOUS SUBJECT MATTER (Applicable Portion)

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

35 U.S.C. 112. SPECIFICATION (Applicable Portion)

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same, and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
